Rector's Message

John W. O'Brien, Rector and Vice-Chancellor.

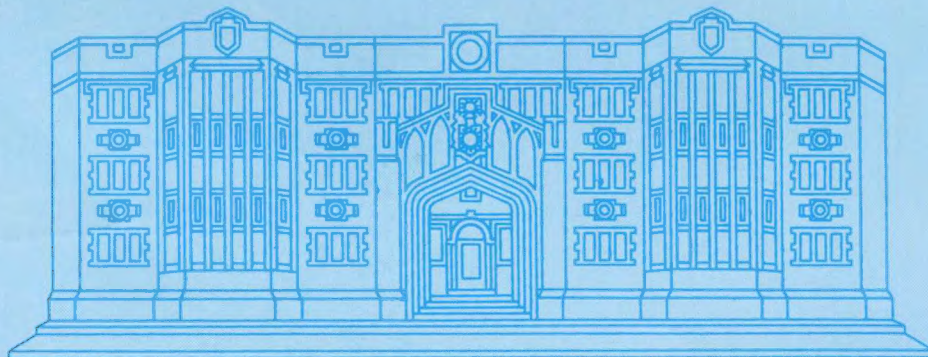

Graduation is a significant time in all our lives. Despite the perennial clichés concerning this event about “moving out into the real world”, graduation does mark a crucial watershed between one part of your life and another. At Concordia, you have been studying, analyzing, researching and compiling information to gain knowledge and an understanding of how things work. Now you will have to use that knowledge in the pursuit of your career.

As you work towards your personal and professional goals, I hope that you will not forget that you have responsibility to society as well as to yourself. Many of you will become leaders. A leader, after all, is someone who can exert influence; and many of you will soon be making decisions influencing other people.

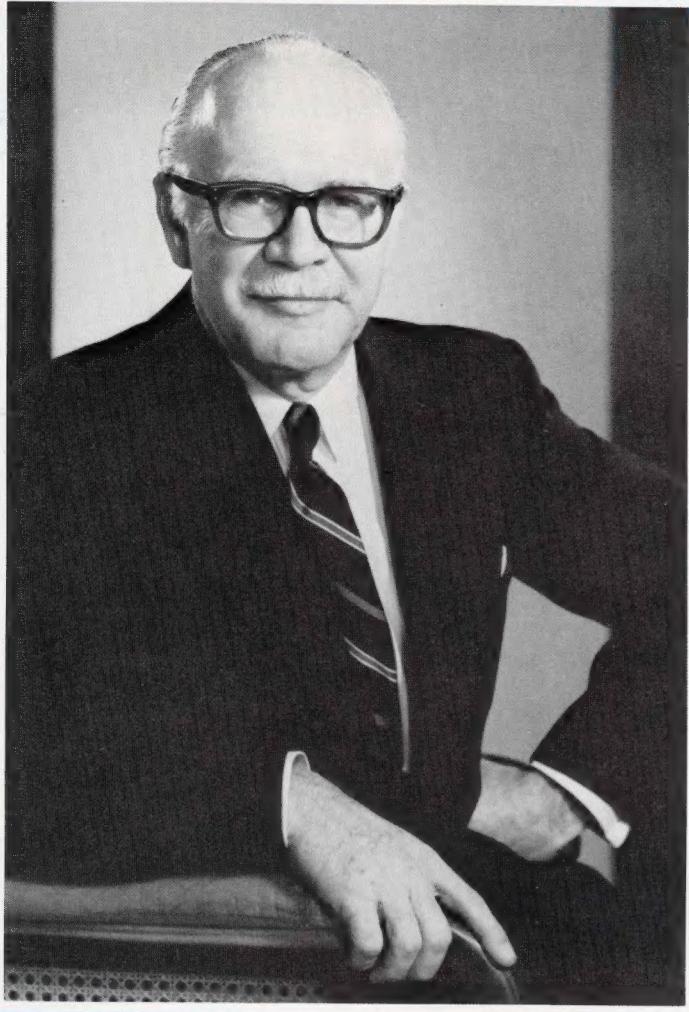

Years from now when you think about your time at Concordia, you'll have forgotten the details of examinations, papers, reports and oral quizzes. But I trust you won't forget the Concordia spirit of compromise and cooperation. Just as our institution has survived and prospered employing these qualities to overcome problems associated with severe underfunding and to benefit from the 1974 merger of Sir George Williams and Loyola, you too will benefit society and yourself by using the Concordia spirit to guide your actions.

These qualities as well as another component of the Concordia spirit, resourcefulness, should help you succeed in these difficult times and also in the years to come.

Congratulations and good luck to you all.

THE LINK

Concordia had its full share of news items this year. The Link, through its news and editorial sections, highlighted those that mattered and more importantly, said why they were significant.

More often than not, it was through the pages of The Link that the community found out what was really going on in a university as diverse as Concordia. The newspaper assumed the task of covering these many parts, whether they were course change problems, a proposed exchange program with Saudi Arabia, or the status of women's sports.

The Link, in completing its second publishing year, continued the work of former student journalists and built on their experiences. Also important was the paper's continued effort to cover as many aspects of Concordia and student life as possible. This commitment was reaffirmed at midyear and remains a priority for 1982.

CELANESE IN QUEBEC

In the 55 years since Celanese established its roots in Drummondville, Québec, we've spread into other locations in the Province and branched out into distant parts of Canada.

Today, from our Head Office in Montreal, we direct the activities of six manufacturing plants; three of which are located in Quebec.

From our modest beginning, we've turned into a four hundred million dollar Company and we're not through yet.

Our products are seen and used every day - you may drive on tires reinforced with our polyester cord, wear clothing of acetate or Fortrel® polyester, walk on Protel® polypropylene carpets, sleep between polyester/cotton sheets or use our industrial chemicals in a variety of products from paints to wind-shield washers.

Yes, we're here and we're still growing - with Quebec.

CELANESE

Celanese Canada Inc.,
800 Dorchester Blvd. W., Montreal, Quebec
